Degree: Mobile Development

Assignment: 3.1

Specific Measurable Actionable Realistic Timely

In the next two years I plan on managing and being a majority partner of a new school where I live with an established presence in its area, while in the process of wrapping up my BS degree in Mobile Development.

Working full time and attending classes at Full Sail I need to stay focused in both and also keep my health and mental well-being in good condition. Keeping mentally and physically fit will be a big part of completing my degree and advancing my current career so staying active and enjoying life is necessary. I will do this by exercising daily, whether it be a few sets of pushups, jumping on the local park exercise equipment, a jog or bike ride around the neighborhood or even enrolling at the local gym later on. A big step in enjoying life for me is putting myself in a comfortable living and work situation and feeling like I am making financial progress. This will be done by selecting a location that lets me work with people whose company I enjoy and which also has outlets in the community that I enjoy being involved with. Another aspect of advancing my career and degree specific knowledge is making new friends and becoming established in the local and online communities. Broadening my online networking presence by making new contacts and participating in various forums and/or posts will boost my online status, reach and credibility. Meeting people in my local community will be good for advancing my career and as well as my social life and mental well-being.
